Victoria Dim-out To Cut Glare Now Aiding Jap Subs

By KENNETH DRURY
VANCOUVER—General dim-out of night lighting in Victoria and over the southern part of the island, probably for the duration of the war, has been ordered by military and civilian defence authorities.

This means that all lights in any part of the area which might throw a ray in the direction of the water or skyward must be shielded.

Most lights in low-level parts of the city away from the waterfront as long as they are shielded from above, probably will not be affected as the rays from them are cut off from the water by the higher areas surrounding.

WHOLE COAST DIMMED

The order will make uniform the night condition along the whole Pacific coast from California to Alaska. Up until now Victoria and the lower island had constituted the only oceanfront area exempted from dim-out regulations. Port Angeles and the other communities along the Strait of Juan de Fuca, including Jordan River, have already been either dimmed out or blacked out.

Airplane surveys just completed off the coast and to the south show that the lights of Victoria silhouette the whole Olympic Peninsula at night.

VICTORIA GLARE HELPS JAPS

United States defence officers made the request for the Victoria and Island dim-out to Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., G.O.C. Pacific Command. They explained how lights from this area in combination with their direct cloud reflection and indirect reflection from the surrounding water build up a sky glare. This is effective for hundreds of miles out at sea in aiding Japanese submarines now operating there to pick off passing ships. Between the Jap subs and Victoria's sky glare, ships stand out in sharp silhouette.

HOW IT WORKS

Under the dim-out on any of Victoria's waterfront drives or on roads immediately leading into roads with no motor lights more powerful than parking lights or small filaments in the headlights will be permitted. It will not be necessary, however, to use the black-out hood with only the small, narrow beam of light.

From the sides of all buildings facing the water, all direct lighting must be cut off, such as from porches, open doors or windows. Use of full black-out equipment on windows will not be necessary; ordinary heavy curtains and blinds will reduce the light beams sufficiently.

Street lights in the area near the water and in those parts of the district inland, but which are in an elevated position from where a direct ray can be projected on the water, must be shielded on the side against the water and from the sky.

Shipyards and other industrial lighting near the waterfront must be shielded against the water so that no rays can be reflected.

General dim-out has been in effect for months along the Atlantic coast as well as on the United States part of the Pacific coast. The dim-out along both coasts extends inland to include any elevation from which light rays might strike the water.

Partial dim-out along the whole British Columbia coast has been in effect for the last year. Under this exterior advertising signs and unattended lights, with the exception of street lighting, have been banned.

WITHIN 3 WEEKS

W. C. Mainwaring, chairman of the Provincial Civilian Protection Committee, announced the dim-out order after conferences with Maj. Gen. Pearkes, Commodore W. J. R. Beech of the Royal Canadian Navy, and Air Vice-Marshal L. F. Stevenson of the Western Air Command. Government and municipal officials are being notified and regulations prepared. It is expected the order will be made 100 per cent effective within the next three weeks.

Gnr. 'Hank' Rowe With Dieppe Heroes Greeted at Montreal

Gnr. H. J. "Hank" Rowe, M.M., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Rowe, 1420 Camosun Street, was one of 17 smiling and happy veterans of the Battle of Dieppe who arrived in Montreal today to receive the nation's tribute as representatives of the men who fought the gallant nine-hour assault on the blood-stained beaches of France.

As soon as he could get a telephone "Hank" long-distanced his father.

"I'm feeling fine," he told his dad.

"It was certainly good to hear his voice," said Mr. Rowe. "I'm glad he's back. I always felt he would come back."

"Hank" did not say when he would be back.

Later in the day "Hank" was on the radio broadcasting, and many Victorians heard his cheerful voice.

Interviewed in Montreal "Hank" said he, with some other artillerymen, was sent to Dieppe to get a complete German "ack-ack" gun of a certain type because the British general staff wanted to have a look at its sighting mechanism which was supposed to be "pretty hot."

"I was in that flank outfit that had the chance encounter with the E-boat patrol and naturally the Germans, warned of our approach, gave us hell," he said. "So, instead of taking back an 'ack-ack' gun—something we all had our hearts set on doing—I got back to England in my underwear and a blanket."

ARRIVED INDECENT

A barrage of shrapnel had given him minor wounds and torn his clothing. Before he was placed on board a destroyer three smaller craft had sunk under him and in the subsequent struggles in the water he lost out of most of his clothing.

"A big English sailor grabbed me out of the water the last time, told me cheerily I was indecent and gave me a blanket. That's the way I arrived back in England."

His only complaint was that one piece of shrapnel lodged in his jaw near his ear and "made eating uncomfortable for quite a while. However, I'm going to make up for it now."

The men arrived in Montreal by train early this morning from an east coast United States port where they had been welcomed by Col. H. Desrosiers, Deputy Minister of National Defence.

KEPT A SECRET

Their homecoming a well-kept wartime secret, the returning men trooped into Windsor Hotel in Montreal out of buses which had brought them from their train.

Leading them into the hotel lobby were Lt. Col. Dollard Menard of Quebec, his arm in a sling from wounds suffered with Les Fusiliers Mont-Royal at Dieppe, and Capt. W. S. Osler of Winnipeg, who was wounded with the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders.

Smiles lit their faces as they filled the lobby and then moved upstairs for breakfast before facing a monster press conference at which they told the story of the Aug. 19 assault on the French coastline.

The officers in the returning group—which included nine men decorated for their part in the raid—included Capt. Ronald B. Murray of Kingston, Ont., Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps; Capt. Dennis Bult-Francis of Westmount, Que., wounded at Dieppe, and Capt. Rev. Joseph Armand Sabourin of Montreal, chaplain of Les Fusiliers Mont-Royal, mentioned in dispatches for his services in the raid.

ANXIOUS TO RETURN

Capt. Sabourin took time out to tell a reporter that "it was sad at Dieppe but the boys who went there and came back are anxious to return." He added: "And those who did not go are jealous of the others."

For the popular padre the homecoming brought promotion to the rank of major. At breakfast he was told of the promotion and given a major's crown to replace the three "pips" of a captain on his shoulder straps. (See story "Veterans Say" page 2.)

Merchant Vessel Sunk By U-Boat Up St. Lawrence

METIS BEACH, Que. (CP)—A westbound merchant ship was torpedoed and sunk last Thursday night off this summer resort on the St. Lawrence River's south shore, farther up-river than any previous submarine attack.

The ship was struck just after midnight and 12 of her crew are missing. The 18 others were picked up by Canadian naval vessels which tried to locate and counterattack the U-boat.

Disclosure of the loss of the 4,000-ton merchant ship, one of the vessels in a small convoy, was withheld until today for naval security reasons.

Must Maintain Constant Patrol

(In Ottawa today Navy Minister Macdonald announced the loss and said:

"Although some abatement in the toll of merchant ships taken by submarines in the western Atlantic has been noticeable in August and September, the continuing attacks in the St. Lawrence have impressed the conclusion upon us that there can be no relaxation of our efforts."

(At an eastern Canadian port the quartermaster of the sunken ship said: "I'm sure one of the Canadian escorts got the U-boat." Other crewmen expressed agreement, but there was no official confirmation of this remark. See story page 14.

(Mr. Macdonald's statement said only: "The U-boat was not seen.")

The incident, one of a number of sinkings in the St. Lawrence River during the past three months, startled residents on the shore—particularly Octave Gendron, lighthouse-keeper, and his family who live on a point jutting out into the river.

Gendron, awakened by the explosion of the torpedo and the subsequent firing of star shells by naval vessels in order to light up the area and find the submarine, thought his lighthouse was under bombardment.

Operational aircraft were sent to the scene, but by the time they arrived the shooting was over and all they saw was some floating debris, presumably the remains of the sunken freighter.

Halfway to Quebec From River's Mouth

Previous announcements have disclosed the sinking of nine other ships in the St. Lawrence area and the damaging of one other. These earlier sinkings took place farther down stream, mostly in the vicinity of Cap Chat, where the St. Lawrence is about 100 miles wide and gives the undersea craft ample room to manoeuvre and hide. At Metis, near Mont Joli, about halfway between the river mouth and Quebec City, the river is about 20 miles wide and it is estimated last week's sinking was done about 15 miles out in the river from Gendron's lighthouse.

Submarines have been reported sighted in many parts of the river, but it is difficult to be sure of a sighting unless the submarine sinks a ship or is hit.

Gendron, a middle-aged man with a family of 13 children, claims he saw a submarine in the bay between the lighthouse point and the beach last July 10. It remained there about an hour during the evening and then disappeared.

Families Along Shore Heard Shells Explode

Because of the position of the lighthouse, the Gendron family got more of a shock from the sinking than other residents who could see and hear less, although many heard enough to know that something unusual was taking place.

"Did you think they were shooting at you?" he was asked. "Certainty," was the emphatic reply, which was echoed by his 21-year-old son David, who helps his father, and four of the smaller Gendrons.

The job of fighting submarines in the huge expanse of water which is the lower St. Lawrence is carried out jointly by the Canadian navy and the R.C.A.F.

Torpedoed Off This Coast

As crewmen rig ladders over the side of their rescue vessel, a torpedoed, burning tanker, latest Jap sub victim off the Pacific coast, goes to her grave. But one man, however, of the crew of 48 was lost in the attack which took place last Oct. 4.

Von Bock, Halder Fired By Hitler In Big Shake-up

LONDON (CP)—Belief that Hitler has made a drastic shake-up in his military commands, ousting both Col. Gen. Franz Halder and Field Marshal Fedor von Bock, was expressed today by qualified London observers on the basis of persistent reports from Stockholm.

Halder was chief of the German general staff, and Von Bock commanded the powerful Nazi drive on Stalingrad, now stalled. These observers, whose names could not be disclosed, said the continued reports that the generals had been ousted appeared based on fact, but that the names of their successors had not yet been disclosed.

The Stockholm correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph reported the dismissal of Halder on "the most reliable authority."

The Stockholm report said Halder, who had headed the German general staff since 1938, was believed to have been replaced temporarily by Gen. Alfred Jodl, who has been with Hitler as an advisor at the German eastern front headquarters.

Search Fails

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Although 30,000 men, including air raid wardens and auxiliary police, searched the city Wednesday night, San Francisco police reported today that no definite clue to the mysterious disappearance of four-year-old Vivian Miller has been found.

The brown-eyed, brown-haired daughter of Morris A. Miller, a shipyard worker, was last seen playing in front of her grandmother's house, in the Fillmore Street district, Tuesday afternoon.

New U.S. Rent Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives today passed by an oral vote and sent to the Senate a new anti-inflation measure directing the President to stabilize rentals throughout the United States on both residential and commercial property and to regulate charges by hotels and rooming houses.

NEXT MONDAY, OCT. 19, THE BOOKS for Canada's Third Victory Loan will be opened. The Minister of Finance is asking for the nominal sum of $750,000,000. He requires and expects to sell a great deal more bonds than this minimum amount represents.

Mr. Ilsley said in Toronto yesterday: "The magnitude of the undertaking is so great that it cannot succeed without support from all parts of the nation and all groups in the nation."

In other words, this Third Victory Loan must be over-subscribed, not because it is an insurance policy for the whole of the Canadian people, but because it must provide the money to pay for the tools which our fighting men require to bring us victory.

Without that victory, Canada cannot survive. Defeat means servitude to a foreign tyrant. That is the condition existing in many continental European countries today.

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By GLENN BABB

Associated Press Staff Writer

Hitler obviously is turning his keen, perhaps anxious, attention to his southern front. Stymied at Stalingrad and finding little reason for comfort elsewhere along his eastern battle lines, he patently feels impelled now to give increasing thought to Africa and southern areas nearer home, Italy, for instance, and the Balkans.

The movements of his subordinates, the switching of his U-boat packs to new hunting grounds, and a growing volume of searching speculation for his propaganda machine, all indicate the Nazis' expectation that the war is approaching a new phase, the Africa phase.

This shift of emphasis differs significantly from similar changes in the past. There is a new note in Berlin's propaganda. This time, for the first time, the new battlefield is not of Hitler's choosing. He appears to be uncertain as to exactly where it is to be. The Berlin radio, throwing out a multitude of reports on Allied dispositions, seems to be either fishing for information or trying to impress the United Nations with the thoroughness of the German information service. But the general tenor is conviction that a blow is coming, and that the initiative will not be Germany's.

HIMMLER IN ROME

Marshal Rommel, having received marked honors at the hands of Hitler in Berlin, has returned to the command of his African armies. "Himmler of the Gestapo, that grim specialist in the morale of the home front, of occupied territories and associated states—if there is a difference there—has gone to Rome. New generals have been sent to the Balkans. And Admiral Raeder's submarine flotillas are making their greatest effort of the moment in the waters off West Africa and the Cape of Good Hope. Berlin and London are agreed on this last. Hitler is desperate to cut those lifelines to West Africa and around the Cape to North Africa.

A new factor sharpens the Nazi anxieties. "The Yanks are coming" is in effect the refrain of a stream of radio outpourings from Berlin. "The belief is voiced that

What actually happened at sea could not be seen from the shore owing to poor visibility, but the action evidently was close by. Cape Roca is west northwest of Lisbon.

U.S. Fliers Hit Jap Battleship; Down 33 Planes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Navy announced today that the Japanese have brought up heavy naval units in their apparently all-out effort to drive American army and marine forces out of the Solomon Islands despite considerable enemy losses in the last four days.

The enemy's losses in the fight and its preliminary stages, covering a four-day period, were reported by the navy in a communique as being seven ships, including a battleship, damaged, and 33 planes shot down, destroyed on the ground or damaged both in actions over the American airfield on Guadalcanal and as a result of American attacks on Japanese ships.

Damage to American forces and installations was disclosed to include that done by an unintercepted enemy bomber raid on the airfield at Guadalcanal and also the loss of two fighter planes.

Land and Air Force As Reinforcements

Secretary of War Stimson disclosed today that substantial U.S. army ground and air forces had arrived on Guadalcanal to help the marines defend the Solomon Islands key point against newly-developing Japanese attacks.

The damage done to the Guadalcanal airfield, which had previously been bombarded by Japanese warships, was not disclosed, nor was there any exact explanation as to why American fighters in that one instance had failed to take the air to repel the attack.

A communique, following up Wednesday night's announcement that the enemy troops on the strategic island had been heavily reinforced, said United States reinforcements had been landed Oct. 13, Guadalcanal time, and that although the ships which took them in were attacked by enemy bombers they suffered no damage and unloading operations were accomplished successfully.

The Japanese reinforcements were made Oct. 15, which was Thursday by Guadalcanal time, and the transport force, today's communique noted, was covered not only by destroyers and cruisers, but also by a battleship.

A communique, dated Oct. 15, reported that "other enemy forces including heavy units have been sighted in the vicinity of Guadalcanal."

U.S. Troops in Fiji, New Hebrides

Stimson also told reporters today that army forces now are in the New Hebrides and Fiji islands on the route between the United States and Australia, as well as at other points where their presence had been disclosed previously.

"Recently army ground and air units have moved to Guadalcanal to reinforce the marines who seized important positions in the Solomons and are tenaciously holding them against vigorous Japanese counterattacks," the War Secretary said.

"The army and navy forces in this area are fighting in the closest possible co-operation under the unified command of the navy," he added.

N. Vancouver Ferry Crashes Into Dock

VANCOUVER (CP)—Passengers were forced to leap to safety to escape flying glass and debris when a North Vancouver ferry crashed into the loading pier at its Vancouver dock early today. Piling was wrenched away and the ferry's lower cabin caved in by the force of the crash, but no one was injured.

R. Bromley, secretary of the North Vancouver City and District Property Owners' Association, said the ferry was carrying a double load of passengers because a previous ferry had failed to make a trip.

"Conditions are deplorable," Mr. Bromley said. "In case of a mid-inlet collision loss of life would be terrific."

Vancouver Doctors O.K. Chlorination

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Medical Association today was on record as supporting a federal department of health order that Vancouver chlorinate its water supply.

At a meeting Wednesday night the doctors approved a resolution which said the association was "in favor of chlorination of the Vancouver city water supply as a measure of preventive medicine, especially in view of the hazards of war." The resolution also recommends "that there be no relaxation of the present excellent precautions taken by the Greater Vancouver Water Board to safeguard the watershed."

The Water Board, at a recent meeting, decided to disregard the order after hearing a legal opinion from its counsel that the order was illegal.

Proposal Surprises British

Russia Suggests Hess Face Trial

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russian government, contributing Premier Stalin's view on punishment of Axis war leaders, proposed today that a special tribunal undertake at once to punish "any one of the leaders of Fascist Germany who, in the course of the war, has fallen into the hands of states fighting against Hitlerite Germany."

While Rudolf Hess was not mentioned specifically in this passage of the Russian announcement, he seemed to be the most important if not the only captive Axis adherent falling in the category of prisoners against whom immediate action was sought by Russia.

Hess, former Deputy Fuehrer, has been a British prisoner since May 10, 1941, when he parachuted to earth in Scotland, bearing what both Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill later said was an overture to Britain to make peace with Germany and join the Reich in war on Russia. The German attack on Russia started June 22, 1941.

(Hess has long been known as a bitter opponent of Communism.)

The Russian government announced approval of the program outlined last week by British leaders and President Roosevelt and went further by reciting names.

Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov issued the announcement on behalf of Premier Stalin.

"The Soviet government undertakes to co-operate fully in providing information of specific crimes by specific persons and bringing the criminals to book in bringing out punishment," it said.

"The whole world knows the names and bloody crimes of the leaders of the Hitlerite clique: Hitler, Goering, Hess, Goebbels, Himmler, Ribbentrop, Rosenberg and others."

Safety of Prisoners Must Be Considered

LONDON (CP)—A foreign office commentator declared today that Rudolf Hess, former deputy Nazi leader, is "of course regarded as one" of the Nazis who might be affected by the British government's declaration proposing a tribunal to indict war criminals.

But the Russian suggestion that Nazi leaders who fall into Allied hands during the war be turned over without delay for trial startled British official circles.

It was pointed out that such a trial during wartime would jeopardize the well-being and possibly the lives of scores of thousands of British war prisoners and many hundreds of British civilians interned in occupied Europe, and result in even more harsh treatment of the peoples of the occupied countries.

The spokesman emphasized that Hess had been a prisoner since May 10, 1941, and "of course, while there were plenty of crimes" which could be charged against the German leaders prior to that date, atrocities affecting the Russian people and the majority of those against other European peoples occurred later.

NOT OFFICIALLY RECEIVED

The commentator also emphasized that the Moscow statement of Foreign Commissar Molotov suggesting Nazi leaders be tried for war crimes without delay was not addressed to London and was known here only through broadcast.

He noted also a statement in the House of Commons by Richard Law, Foreign Under-Secretary, who said the proposed tribunal was "intended to be a fact-finding body," essentially for the purpose of collecting evidence.

Today also a Foreign Office spokesman branded as "bunk" a report that Frau Hess, wife of Rudolf Hess, former deputy Nazi leader, was seeking to join her husband in Britain.

The report concerning her arose from a question asked in the House of Commons.

Archbishop Urges Crimes Be Listed

YORK, Eng. (CP)—The Archbishop of York, Most Rev. Cyril Foster Garbett, suggested today that the Allied governments announce specific crimes of the Axis occupying forces and demand the surrender of both superior and subordinate suspects "as a preliminary condition of the armistice."

"Contempt for the quality of mercy and exaltation of cruelty into a virtue show, even more than their denial of freedom, the complete and irreconcilable opposition of German totalitarianism to Christian ideals," the Archbishop said in his first presidential address to the northern church convocation.

"It is little comfort to know that, at the end of the war, there will be stern retribution for these crimes."

The Archbishop said the Allies should advise the German people by radio and leaflets of the crimes committed by their representatives and, where it is possible, "we should also inform them of the names."

Gallup Poll

Americans Ready To Scrap Statues

PRINCETON, N.J.—Let's forget about the Civil War, and remember Pearl Harbor.

These words, spoken to a Gallup poll reporter, typify the mood of the American people in regard to the sacrifice of metal statues, railings, heavy chains, old guns, iron posts and other ornaments which litter the nation's parks, in the interests of the scrap metal drive.

A coast-to-coast survey by the American Institute of Public Opinion shows that most people place the war needs above their sentimental attachment to historical relics and mementos, and supplies one more piece of evidence that the public is desperately in earnest about the war.

In some localities, collection of metal from parks has already begun as well as from cemeteries, in the latter case permission, of course, being obtained from the families owning the burial plots.

The reaction of the public was measured by the institute on the following issue: "Do you think metal statues, old guns, railings, heavy chains and other metal in parks and cemeteries in your community should be donated to the scrap metal drive?"

The vote is: Approve, 82 per cent; disapprove, 10 per cent; undecided, 8 per cent.

The small number who objected did so not primarily for reasons of sentiment, but because they do not think such a campaign is necessary until all other sources of scrap are exhausted.

SCRAP NEED STRESSED

The majority, however, look on park and cemetery ornaments as needless in time of emergency, however desirable they may be in time of peace.

Following are some typical comments for and against the issue from the voters themselves:

"The stuff's pretty all right, but right now we need it to make bullets and airplanes."

"Some of those dead heroes would be glad to have their statues used to help win the toughest war yet."

"We must have no scrap shortage holding up production."

"It's all-out for war. We can't let our sentiment run away with our heads."

"All except historical statues. We mustn't destroy cultural relics that can't be replaced."

"Sounds like an extreme step. Don't think it's necessary right now."

"All that metal will do more good in a battleship than where it is now."

Rabaul Airdrome Left in Flames

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA (delayed) (AP)—Flying Fortresses left the whole airdrome area alight with fire early today in the fourth heavy pounding they have dealt Rabaul, Japan's key base on New Britain, in eight days, returning fliers said.

It took scarcely more time to do it than it takes to tell.

The lead plane dropped flares which lit up Lakanal and Vunukanau airdromes, flanking Rabaul's crescent-shaped harbor. The other Fortresses winged over, dropped their cargoes of destruction square on the illuminated targets, and then they all came home.

The returning fliers, shaking the kinks out of their cramped-up legs after the 1,000-mile round trip, said no enemy fighters molested them and that both searchlight and anti-aircraft fire were weaker than they had encountered on the three previous raids since Oct. 5.

The whole force returned without a scratch on a ship or a man.

Dieppe Veterans Say Nazi Prisoners Well Treated

MONTREAL (CP)—His arm in a sling and a D.S.O. ribbon pinned on his chest, tall Lt.-Col. Dollard Menard of Les Fusiliers Mont-Royal, strode into a hotel here today leading a party of 17 battle-scarred Dieppe raiders, and told of that bloody fight, which he described as "the enlightening and necessary preliminary to the forthcoming permanent landing."

Under a constant barrage of photographers' flash bulbs, and while newsreels whirled and shutters clicked, Col. Menard and other members of his party told 50 newsmen, conducting a mass interview, that:

1. Dieppe was necessary;
2. German prisoners were treated honorably;
3. Security precautions leading up to the raid were excellent;
4. The raid accomplished its object;
5. Our tanks, planes and naval craft timed their operations effectively and efficiently;
6. The men are ready to go back tomorrow and finish the job.

The interview was held after the party, which had arrived earlier from an east coast United States port, had breakfasted.

ALL BEAR SCARS

Most of them shy, all of them bearing scars of the tough fight, they told their stories with hesitation until asked about the treatment of German prisoners. Then they strongly reiterated the statements of other returning Dieppe men that, contrary to German charges, prisoners were treated—as Col. Menard put it—"honorably, and in the case of wounded, with great kindness."

"Our men, before the battle, were briefed on the subject of treatment of prisoners," Col. Menard said.

"They were told there must be no brutality or unkindness and German wounded must be taken care of where it was at all possible. I watched those orders being carried out."

He had talked with one German prisoner—a young Pole who told him he had been forced into an "occupation unit" of the German army by threat of imprisonment or even death. This suggested the Germans might be using an infiltration of foreign reinforcements to make up for their losses in Russia. "That chap was pretty glad to get into our hands and so were the rest—German or non-German," the officer said.

NO SHACKLES

Col. Menard, whose D.S.O. citation says he continued to lead his men even after he had been wounded five times, laughed derisively at the German suggestion that German prisoners had been shackled.

"What would we use to shackle or even bind them?" he declared. "We don't play it that way and naturally we didn't take excess equipment along on that jaunt. Anyhow we certainly wouldn't have needed to use it. The Germans I saw were pretty docile fellows, who looked a bit emaciated and very fed up with the whole business. It was not necessary to tie them up because they showed no fight."

PRaises SOLDIERS

What of his own men? The young colonel's eyes glistened and his voice changed as he said movingly: "They were magnificent, simply magnificent." His men were "tough" and "they have a complete disregard for Hitler's supermen and are ready to go back to finish the job whenever it is necessary."

Cpl. J. A. Gregory of Calgary, soft-spoken member of the South Saskatchewan Regiment, also had a word to say about prisoner treatment. He captured seven along the route and "found them pretty quiet lads who held up their arms and came along without trouble. We gave them some cigarettes and then put them to work as stretcher-bearers picking up their own and our wounded. They worked willingly and were glad of our 'fags'."

He last saw his gallant "O.C."—Lt.-Col. C. C. I. Merritt, V.C., of Vancouver—leading a party of men forward to organize an advance post designed to fight the rearguard action when the Canadians withdrew.

"We were glad to learn he was still alive, even though he is a prisoner."

SOAP ON FACES

The stubby corporal, who lost an eye and received other wounds, said his right flank unit had taken the German defenders completely by surprise. They obviously had no wind of our approach for we saw a couple of German officers poke their heads out of a window to look us over and noticed they still had shaving soap on their faces. We captured one of these officers and he was not fully dressed."

After charging through the shell-ridden two miles of his regiment's objective, Cpl. Gregory said he found he was still uninjured. He got back to the beach "and I looked around for some wood to touch as I figured I'd been pretty lucky, but just then a sniper's bullet ricocheted off the iron side of a landing craft and took my left eye. Later I was struck by shrapnel."

But he still thinks he was fortunate: "You see, I was lucky enough to see action in the raid and the rest of the army who had to stay home would have traded places with me... eye or not."

SUPPORTED BY FRENCH

Cpl. Gregory said he wouldn't like to say to much about how the Canadians were received by the French people. "I understand reprisals have already been taken against them, and I wouldn't like to add to their troubles by anything I say."

He did say, however, that he came on an old French woman crying. He told her not to worry, she wouldn't be injured if she kept indoors. "She retorted, pretty sharply, she wasn't afraid of being injured. The only thing that was making her cry was the BBC broadcast and our leaflets telling the residents it was only a raid and not a permanent landing."

He said the Canadian "cleaning up" operations had been hampered by the cautious German billeting system. It was a staggered arrangement, with every other house containing soldiers and the remainder containing only civilians. "This meant we couldn't shoot through doors for fear of hitting Frenchmen, and the Germans, on the other hand, could shoot us down if we withheld our fire while we investigated whether a house contained soldiers or civilians."

He described his entrance into one house where two German soldiers had apparently been having an all-night drinking bout with some girls. He crashed open the door with the butt of his rifle and the slightly-drunk Germans, their clothes rumpled, wobbled to their feet and gave him a smart salute, apparently mistaking him for a German officer in the half-light of early dawn.

"I took them along," he said.

Russian Line Remains Stable At Stalingrad

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW (CP)—The battle of Stalingrad was deadlocked today in comparatively small-scale actions with every probing thrust by German tanks and infantry reported repulsed.

Red army lines remained stable. The Germans buried additional men on the approaches to a workers' settlement in Stalingrad's northwestern suburbs, fallen in assaults which failed to reach the factories forming the backbone of the defense.

Although the invaders are using far smaller forces than they employed in the earlier Stalingrad offensive, the army newspaper Red Star said they had concentrated a considerable group of infantry and tanks in an effort to occupy the northern quarter.

The noon communique said attacks by Nazi armored and infantry forces were turned back and Russian artillery fire wiped out parts of two German battalions.

FROST CREEPS SOUTH

Thus, as the freezing cold which already has set in from the Arctic to Moscow crept southward toward the Volga basin and the Caucasus, the Russians reported the Stalingrad situation unchanged for the third successive day.

Military observers expressed belief the lull in German activity may be to re-equip the Nazi forces for a winter campaign and avoid the disastrous reverses of last year when winter and Soviet counteroffensives caught them unprepared.

The Germans probably have found it necessary also to reorganize units worn out by the Russians' resistance, they said. Five German counterattacks were repelled northwest of Stalin-grade and about 300 Germans were killed, the communique said.

A minor tank penetration of Russian lines in the Mozdok area of the central Caucasus was announced, but the communique said Russian troops subsequently beat off attacks of German infantrymen on a height and killed about 400 of the enemy. Russian fliers aided the defenders.

DESTROY 7 TANKS

"Soviet airmen destroyed seven German tanks and 40 trucks and, in air combats, four enemy planes were brought down," it was announced.

About 300 Germans were reported slain in two days of action on the Leningrad front. The communique said Soviet artillery and mortar gunners of that region—which is already in the grip of seasonal cold—had demolished 12 German blockhouses and silenced four gun batteries.

Shellfire from Russian guns was declared to have destroyed two ammunition-laden trains at a German-occupied railway station southeast of Norovossk, on the Black Sea coast.

GERMAN CLAIMS

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts, AP)—The high command claimed today that "in Stalingrad infantry and panzer formations broke stubborn Soviet resistance offered in blocks of houses and barricades, and advanced deeply into the northern district of the city."

(This was the first time in five days that Hitler's headquarters mentioned actual operations inside the besieged city.)

Records Flight Tests

PHILADELPHIA—A new electronic instrument is helping flight-test the newest airplanes by recording temperature and pressure changes at the rate of 144 readings every three or four minutes.

Developed here by the Brown Instrument Company, this flight recorder replaces three or more men who needed half a minute to write down each reading manually.

First used on the world's largest plane, the Douglas B19, the recorder automatically printed on paper, during the test flight, the temperature of all 72 cylinders of the four motors, changing temperatures of the carburetor, exhaust and of the oil in the fuel lines, and the pressures on wing struts, bulkheads and tail surfaces. In the case of single-seater pursuit ships, the recorder made records that otherwise could not be obtained because test engineers in addition to the pilot could not be carried aloft.

In baked products, such as cookies, muffins, and bread, one-fourth of the white flour may be replaced with vitamin-and-mineral-rich soybean flour.

MORE HELP WANTED

If a census was taken of A.R.P. workers, it would be found that the majority are those who for years have been very active in the welfare of their community. Using their spare time for the benefit of those citizens who are too lazy or indifferent to care about their own future or present conditions or safety. And yet, these volunteer workers are finding time to attend meetings, learn first aid treatment, and training themselves to protect the lives and property of those placid fireside and pleasure-loving residents in their community.

To the men who excuse themselves because they are tired after a day's work: So is your A.R.P. warden, auxiliary firemen, stretcher-bearers, special police and all those working for your protection, tired or not, this is total war. Let us have more British team work, where all classes are working together for their common good. Fire bombs do not come singly, they may come in hundreds, and without organized effort you cannot expect to deal with them successfully.

It is true we shall receive help from other districts, but it takes time to travel around. Co-ordination in each district will be one of the best factors in dealing with any calamity. Are you an able-bodied man, going to hide in the basement, while it is possible that an old man over 70 years is patrolling your district? You may say, I am willing when the time comes, but your efforts will be almost futile without the necessary basic training? Team work is what counts. An air-raid warden has a stirrup pump, it takes (3) men to operate it successfully, are you going to help him? A first-aid man requires stretcher-bearers, volunteer firemen require help. Can you assist them without a little knowledge of the same? This work is compulsory in Britain and a prison term for those who refuse. From information received, the ranks of the A.R.P. in some districts have depleted 50 per cent. Ladies, we urgently need your co-operation regarding materials for extra bandages, old blankets that can be used to keep the injured warm. Your first-aid posts cannot have too many. Make pathway of old pieces from discarded winter overcoats. You may not have much to offer, but your neighbor has a little, too. How about a sewing bee amongst you? This appeal should not be necessary, but after (3) years' experience and knowledge of what has happened in other countries, you must realize the need of being prepared for what can happen here.

'EXPERTS' AND REALISTS

"Leave this question (second front) to the experts." Such is the advice of opponents to the establishment of a much-needed second front. "We do not need any prodding by irresponsible people," say others.

It is universally agreed that certain aspects must of necessity be left to the experts. The time is now. Appeasers and faint hearts have no place in the present scheme of affairs.

There were occasions when the experts may well have listened to the people and so avoided the present world catastrophe. From a lengthy record the following extracts can be considered.

When Mussolini tried his bombs and poison gas on the defenceless people of Abyssinia many common people insisted on collective action against aggression. The demand was raised in the League of Nations. "The experts" did not agree.

While common ordinary folk (even in Victoria) opposed the sending of tons and tons of scrap iron and other war material to Japan, and the U.S.S.R. was the only country supplying the Chinese armies with sorely needed supplies, "the experts" closed the Burma Road.

While ordinary people volunteered their services, and their lives, to the Spanish republican government in its struggle against Franco "the experts" got busy with a "nonintervention committee" and sat there twiddling their thumbs while Hitler and Mussolini destroyed a government elected by more than 85 per cent of the Spanish people.

"The experts" at Munich sold Czechoslovakia for an empty phrase—"Peace in Our Time." When asked how the Russians could help the Czechs when there were no common borders, Litvinov replied: "Where there is a will there is a way." So "the experts" broke the Franco-Soviet alliance.

The defence of Stalingrad is a British and Canadian responsibility as well as the Russians'. The defence and saving of Great Britain and Canada is a Russian responsibility—but ours as well. Quoting Wendell Willkie: "Russia can best be helped by a real second front in Europe at the earliest moment that our military leaders will approve, and perhaps some of them will need some public prodding." And we have promised.

Germans Admit Commandos Busy

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts, AP)—D.N.B., German news and propaganda agency, reported today a series of British commando raids along the coast of France last month and said "it can be deduced that the British command intends to give way to the Soviet demand for a second front and to make Normandy the scene of such an attack."

"In early September, commando raids on a larger scale were carried out by the British," it said, adding they were in preparation for "a British landing on the coast of Normandy."

(Dominion Secretary Clement Attlee told the House of Commons this week that commando raids have been taking place with undisclosed frequency but that no announcement concerning them could be expected.)

One night during the month, D.N.B. said, the German post on a small rocky island in the Casquets group west of Alderney was attacked.

(This position is in the Channel northeast of the Channel Islands and west of the Cotentin Peninsula on which the French port of Cherbourg is situated.)

AT ANNEVILLE

Sept. 7, it said, British forces attempted to approach the west coast of the Cotentin Peninsula off Anneville, but coastal defences were claimed to have driven off the boat.

Further such attempts were observed on other points off the coast of Normandy during the same period, it said.

(The last raid on Germany positions in France itself to be announced was the Aug. 19 Canadian-led attack on Dieppe.)

(Later, after the Germans described a small-scale raid on the Channel Island of Sark, Britain announced that a party of 10 officers, and men raided Sark the night of Oct. 3. They said the raid was one of many such operations which frequently were carried out but not ordinarily announced.)

(The Germans charged British troops in the Sark and Dieppe raid with binding German prisoners, precipitating the current shackling controversy in which the Germans have shackled more than 1,376 British and Canadian prisoners and Britain and Canada retaliated by putting a like number of Germans in chains.)

Mr. Macdonald said barbers' prices were frozen at uneven levels under the general price ceiling.

City School Board

School Loses Wood, Asks More Protection

Someone recently stole four cords of wood from Bank Street School, Trustee J. S. McMillan, chairman of the building and grounds committee, told the City School Board Wednesday night as he reported damage to schools and asked additional police protection for buildings and grounds during the winter months.

Windows had been broken, a hole had been cut in a door and several thefts had occurred, he said.

His plea for more police protection was endorsed by the board.

A written memorandum outlining the board's position on the cost-of-living bonus question affecting the city employees will be forwarded to the arbitration board considering that question, as the result of a motion by Trustee Austin Curtis. Such a statement had been sought by the arbitration board chairman, J. Howard Harman, when T. L. Christie, secretary, appeared before the group and told the arbitrators no dispute existed between the board and employees—that the trustees agreed with the latter's request, included in the statement will be excerpts from communications with the city Council which declined the board's request for funds to pay a higher bonus and from employees and others concerned in the bonus negotiations.

A motion congratulating Albert Smith, head school gardener, on his successes at the recent fall flower show, was carried.

Use of the Sir James Douglas auditorium for P.T.A. functions was granted subject to the usual conditions.

Chairman F. G. Mulliner and Trustee G. A. B. Hall or alternately Austin Curtis were named the city's two representatives on the committee to consider establishment of an amalgamated educational unit for Greater Victoria.

Satisfactory progress made by the city schools band, together with time-tables and arrangements for its appearance on invitation at P.T.A. functions, was reported by Trustee Curtis.

Improvements made in various schools under the direction of the building and grounds committee were outlined in the regular monthly report.

An increase from $9 to $12 a week in wages to the high school janitress, who has completed her probationary period, was approved.

While enrollments fall below those of September, 1941, when the total was 4,951, they are now well ahead of the figure for June, 1942, when 4,571 were listed, the education committee reported. At present the student population of the city is 4,720.

Navy Week will be observed in city schools from Nov. 23 to 27.

Miss Isobel Thomas, Miss Olive Heritage, G. H. E. Green, W. H. Wilson and H. D. Dee were appointed to a school committee to publicize the coming Victory Loan campaign.

With the exception of the dress appreciation course, which has attracted insufficient students to merit continuation, and the wartime nutrition class, for which no registrations have been received, classes at the night school have attained sufficient numbers to warrant their continuance, the education committee reported. Heaviest enrollments are for shorthand and typing and dressmaking. To assist R. F. Goldfinch in the woodwork section F. Hole was appointed by the board.

Trustees approved a scheme to offer an evening class in Second Year Arts French at Victoria College if at least nine students wish it and are prepared to pay a $25 fee.

R. F. Goldfinch and R. T. Kipling were commended for their work in organizing construction and distribution of splints to all A.R.P. posts and points as well as schools.

Scholarships providing night school training for Josephine Spicer, Frank Martin and Robert Reid, winners of the recent animated map competition, were authorized on the recommendation of Miss Frances Trapp Brown, art teacher at the Junior High.

Activities of the school army, air and naval cadets, whose training is now a part of regular school work, were sketched by the educational committee.

Improvement of a room in George Jay School as quarters for the school dentist's traveling unit was authorized.

Survey Future School Needs

Starting next week, city school authorities will open a survey of the city to determine where future schools may be built to advantage in a post-war reconstruction program.

The immediate work will cover marking of locations on a map of all vacant lots which are potential areas of building and settlement within the city as well as existing areas of school population.

That move was one of two rehabilitation topics considered at Wednesday night's meeting. The other covered points raised by Dr. G. M. Weir, acting director for rehabilitation, vocational training and interrupted education, in a letter dealing with those subjects.

Endorsing Dr. Weir's proposals generally the board went on record declaring itself "willing and

High Gym Available For 'Teen Age Teams

Junior and intermediate boys' and girls' basketball teams may play practice games only in the Victoria High gym Friday evenings this winter, provided they meet definite school board stipulations, including nightly janitorial payments of $4.50, charge no admission and observe usual gymnasium requirements.

That decision was reached by the trustees Wednesday night as they ruled out league fixtures and stipulated only school-age children would be given use of the court. Requirements specified include attendance of competent supervisors, use of rubber-soled shoes by players and maintenance of gymnasium etiquette.

Suggesting the building and grounds committee, which recommended granting the use of the gym to juniors and intermediates was establishing a precedent, Trustee Austin Curtis contended permission should be declined.

"If we had an application from an outside organization to use the High School auditorium we would refuse it. If we had a request for the use of the gym for a dance we should refuse it. We should be consistent," Trustee Curtis said. There had been a demand for an adequate centre for basketball and lacrosse in Victoria and the Sports Centre had been established. Now the board was competing with it, he added.

NOT COMPETING

The board was not competing, since no gate was allowed, Trustee J. S. McMillan, building and grounds chairman, replied. The Sports Centre, he said, had been reported unsuitable for 'teen-age boys and girls. The High School gym could be used only for practice games, he said, adding he had been told by a member of the Sports Centre executive that body would have no objection to 'teen-age teams playing in the school gym.

Trustee W. A. Bayliss remarked the health question entered the picture. Many children had contracted colds at the Sports Centre, he said.

If they did, that was the fault of their coaches, Trustee Curtis replied.

Board secretary T. L. Christie, who attended a meeting of the building and grounds committee with representatives of the Victoria and District Basketball Association, said he understood the association wished permission to hold junior and intermediate league fixtures in the gym and had advised them, by letter, such permission was granted subject to the board's regulations regarding gates.

Trustee Mrs. A. S. Christie agreed with Trustee McMillan only practice games had been approved.

On that understanding the board endorsed the committee's offer.

anxious to utilize its equipment and staff to the utmost in providing for rehabilitation, vocational and interrupted education training for men and women being discharged from the services."

Canada Will Take Jewish Children From France

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has agreed to take 1,000 Jewish refugee children now in France, on the condition that homes and maintenance for them can be found in Jewish homes here, it was learned today.

Negotiations have been going on for some time looking toward the care of the many refugee Jewish children in unoccupied France, and it is understood the United States is agreeing to take 5,000 under similar conditions.

Under Canadian immigration laws the age limit for "children" is 18. The maximum number to be taken is 1,000, but will be less if homes are not found for that total.

The arrangement is that this agreement only provides sanctuary, so far as the government is concerned, for the duration of the war.

While there is agreement on this conditional transfer there is no certainty as to when the children might arrive, since wartime ocean transportation difficulties have to be overcome.

Duchess Inspects Canadian 'Wrafs' In England

By LOUIS V. HUNTER

LONDON (CP Cable)—The Duchess of Gloucester, honorary head of Britain's Women's Auxiliary Air Force, today inspected members of the Royal Canadian Air Force Women's Division at their work in R.C.A.F. headquarters.

The Duchess, who holds the rank of air commandant, spent about an hour with the first Canadian airwomen to serve overseas and visited all departments to which they are attached.

Met by Air Marshal Harold Edwards, commander of the R.C.A.F. In Britain, the Duchess inspected a guard of honor under command of Assistant Section Officer Nancy Smith of Calgary, and then began her tour of the office.

Section Officer Patricia Griffin of Winnipeg, who is in charge of the Women's Division detachment, was introduced to the Duchess and was asked many questions about the girls' activities in England. She wanted to know whether they are enjoying their stay in London, and was particularly interested in where and how they live.

In the various departments, the Duchess chatted with all the girls she saw and asked many questions about their work. She spoke to AWL Peggy Douglas of Winnipeg, asking whether she had found any relatives in England with whom she could spend her leave.

The Duchess also spoke to LAW, M. A. Long of Arden, Man., asking whether she had had any leave and then had a long chat with LAW, Jill Wigg of Nelson, B.C.

It was the first time the women's division had been officially inspected by a member of the Royal Family or by any senior W.A.A.F. officer.

The Sunday evening service held at Central Presbyterian Church was conducted by the young people. At the close a fellowship hour was held. Rev. W. Ellis of Fairview Church led in the singing of the conventional hymns.

A devotional period with Rev. J. Evans as speaker began the sessions on Monday morning. Lively discussion groups were held under the leadership of the following: Worship, Rev. J. Skene; service, Rev. W. Ellis; leadership training, Miss Isabel Scott, and fellowship, Rev. St. Denis.

The election of officers for the ensuing year took place in the afternoon, at the business meeting presided over by Miss Norma Cuthbertson, and the results were as follows: Honorary president, Rev. H. Lennox; president, Miss Wiffen, Vancouver; first vice-president, Malcolm McKenzie, Port Alberni; second vice-president, Christina Mair, Vancouver; recording secretary, Margaret Mair, Vancouver; corresponding secretary, Dorothy Harvey, Vancouver; treasurer, Marjorie Kennedy, Victoria; press secretary, Bethia Garvin, Vancouver; fellowship convener, Norma Cuthbertson, Vancouver; leadership training convener, Walter Winter, Port Alberni; service convener, Joyce Stewart, Vancouver; worship convener, Margaret Stewart, Victoria.

At the banquet held Monday evening greetings were extended from other Y.P. societies, and the banner was awarded to Knox Y.P.S., Port Alberni, for the highest standard of work during the past year. Walter Winter, president of the group, was presented with the banner and the society was greatly commended. A highlight of the evening was the reading of a cable from QMS, Gordon Winter, who is now serving overseas and was last year the president of the Provincial Y.P.S.

The convention concluded with an open service at Central Church, where Rev. H. Lennox delivered the theme address, "In All Things, Christ Pre-eminent."

"What a thrill —
to have people
admire my hair!"

Don't be discouraged about your hair. Given a chance — given the right care — most hair can be lovelier, more lustrous, worthy of admiration and receiving it!

"But that takes hours at the hair-dresser's!" you say? Not at all. Not if you use the modern formula. Danderine. Many of today's smartest-looking women rely on Danderine to keep their hair at its best — just applying Danderine to comb or brush each time before arranging their hair, and letting this active formula do the work. Danderine removes ugly loose dandruff; adds lustre without adding oiliness; even makes hair easier to arrange, and helps it to hold a wave longer. Try it now; see for yourself!

AREN, TOO, like Danderine. It fights dandruff, keeps hair neat. All drug and department stores.

Britons Robust After 36 Months 'In Front Line'

LONDON (CP)—There's nothing wrong with the health or physique of Britain's toiling inhabitants, battling all-out to stock this Empire arsenal and shouldering magnificently the strains of war.

That's the consensus of Ministry of Health officials and a host of observers who traveled throughout the country keeping a watchful eye on men, women and children at work and at home. Long working hours, curtailed rations and mental and physical hazards engendered by war haven't seriously affected the nation's robust make-up.

After three years of hard labor and heavy bombing a shadow of fatigue darkens the normally rubicund features of the people. This has been noticed by visitors from Canada and the United States, but has not worried health officials whose job is to nip any signs of a breakdown in health. "No evidence of excessive fatigue, either mental or physical, has been noticed among people generally, beyond the fatigue which must be prevalent in all countries as a result of emotional strain of war," said a Ministry of Health spokesman.

"It is a fact that most people are working harder than they did in peacetime and a certain number are benefiting from this as they have less time to consider themselves or real or imaginary ailments. Less unemployment, security of occupation and a carefully balanced diet through rationing has helped maintain the nation's health."

CAUSE FOR GRATITUDE

Ernest Brown, Minister of Health, sketching the people's welfare, told the House of Commons that the general position gave cause for "sober gratitude" but added there were certain points, however, which needed careful attention.

He didn't specify diseases needing attention, but it was believed he was referring to an increase in tuberculosis and cerebro-spinal meningitis diseases which present special problems during war.

Available statistics show that a total of 1,500 cases of tuberculosis in 1939 rose to nearly 13,000 in 1940 and dropped to 11,000 in 1941. In the first six months of the current year there were 4,000 cases compared with 8,000 and 7,000 in the corresponding periods of 1940 and 1941, respectively.

A similar situation exists with regard to the battle against venereal diseases, said the Ministry of Health, but except for cerebro-spinal meningitis figures for other infectious diseases covering the first seven months of 1942 show a considerable decrease over the corresponding period of 1939. There were no cases of typhoid or para-typhoid during 1941 and so far this year cases have been lower than in 1939.

There were 4,766 cases of cerebro-spinal meningitis during the first seven months this year, compared with 1,034 for the same period in 1939. This total, however, is lower than the comparative periods in 1940 and 1941 when there were 10,024 and 8,645 cases, respectively.

Sir Jameson Wilson, chief medical officer to the Ministry of Health, giving reassuring figures about the incidence of disease, said that provisional figures showed that the death rate for the June quarter this year would be the lowest for any June quarter except June 1927, 1930 and 1933 and that the mortality rate would be the lowest for any year except 1940.

Regarding a threatened outbreak of smallpox earlier this year he said Britain has been "very fortunate" in that there were only 41 cases and eight deaths. He added that the smallpox was a virulent eastern type and complimented officials on the way in which the outbreak was handled.

Meanwhile, Prof. V. P. Sydenstricker of Georgia University, conducting an investigation into the nutrition situation at the request of the ministry, has concluded that the people are not suffering seriously from malnutrition and said he was impressed by the "general appearance of well-being and good spirits."

"I see no reason for trouble developing if the foods available are fully utilized," he continued. "The combination of oatmeal and milk is almost perfect and even though the importation of foods should fall off considerably, I think there is enough to get by on without any threat to health."

Nanaimo Suggests Objectors Cut Wood

NANAIMO (CP)—The city council here in a majority vote with only Ald. D. Campbell dissenting passed a motion sponsored by Ald. George Muir recommending that conscientious objectors in two local camps should be employed in cutting of cordwood for the Nanaimo Hospital.

Owing to the local fuel shortage the hospital, in line with other local institutions, is running short of wood. In past years some of the wood for the hospital has been donated by the Straits Lumber Co., but with the closing down of that source of supply the aldermen felt that by application to the federal authorities objectors could be utilized and they would not be used except for this present emergency.

The conscientious objectors have not been allowed to engage in any occupation outside forest protection under terms of agreement with the Dominion government. During the large slash fires in September when some of the fires got beyond control of the regular logging crews they were not permitted to be hired. After plans to hire these men for commercial projects have been refused.

Soviet Envoy Disowns Canadian Communists

OTTAWA (CP)—Fedor Gusev, new Russian minister to Canada, said at a press conference here late Wednesday, in reply to a question, that there is "no connection" between the Communist Party in Canada and the Soviet government. He did not amplify that statement.

His mission in Canada was primarily to establish "normal diplomatic relations," the minister said, and when he was settled he intended to travel in the Dominion as much as circumstances would permit.

Mr. Gusev was born 38 years ago near Leningrad and the homes of his parents and relatives are in German hands.

WAR WOKE US UP

—to need of more VITAMIN B-COMPLEX in foods we bake with white flour

UNTIL recently, white flour foods held very little of the vitamin B that nature stores in golden grain. Because in milling patent white flour, the parts of the kernel that are rich in vitamins were mostly lost.

Came the war—and with it, the government's insistence that every Canadian should get a full quota of vitamin B-complex every day in foods baked with white flour.

To meet this need our new Kitchen Craft Vitamin B White Flour (Canada approved) was developed. This flour contains five times as much vitamin B₁ (thiamin) as pre-war white flour. Each pound holds not less than 400 International units of vitamin B₁.

You also get more of all the rest of the important vitamin B-complex in this flour. More riboflavin. More niacin. More real nutrition than white flour ever offered you before.

Best of all, you'll find Kitchen Craft Vitamin B White Flour will actually improve your bakings! Its natural wheat content gives breads, pies and cakes a delicate creamy-whiteness. And a most delicious wheaty flavor!

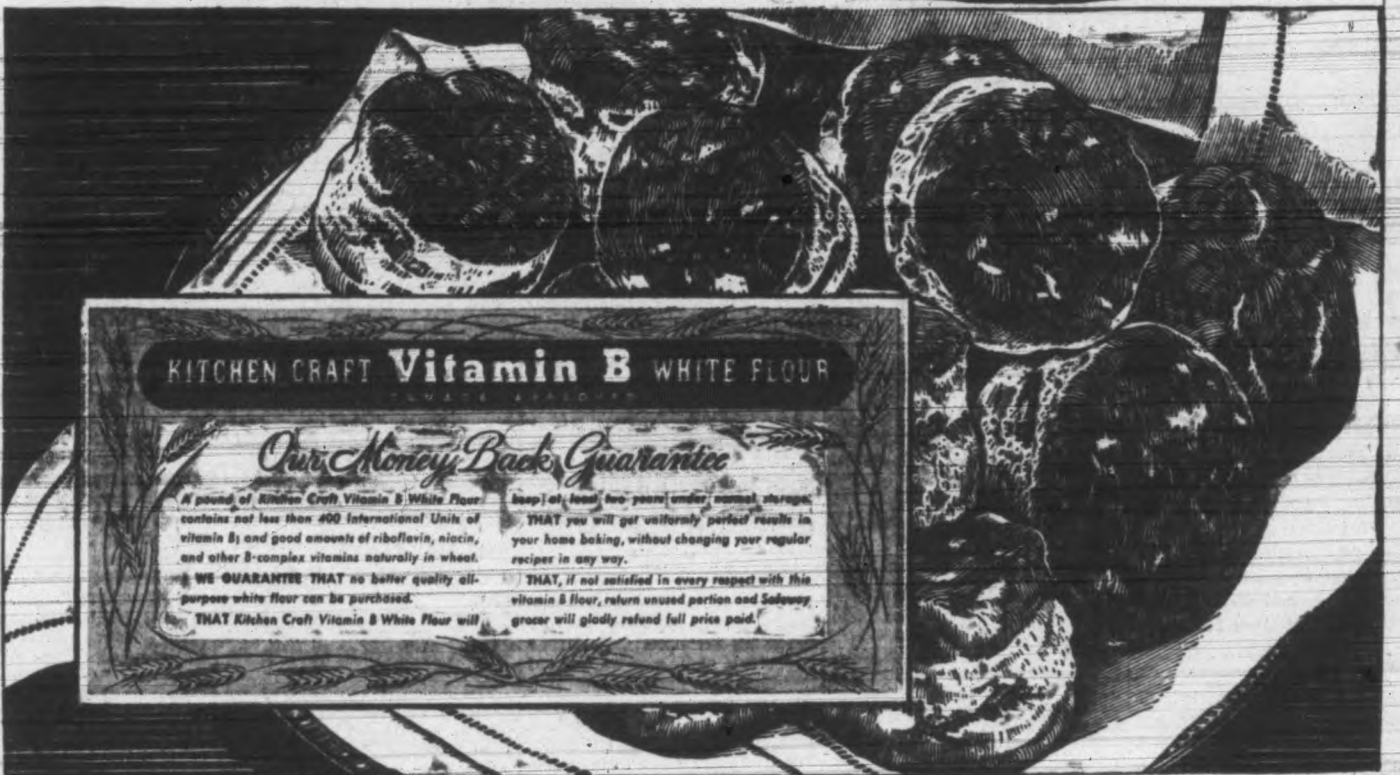

Try Kitchen Craft Vitamin B White Flour, now preferred by thousands. It is milled in Canada and is the best quality of all-purpose, home-type flour. Guaranteed to give you excellent results in all your regular white flour recipes—or money back.

VITAMIN B-COMPLEX is concentrated in the germ and certain layers of the whole wheat kernel. Yet these parts, rich in vitamins, were largely removed in milling former white flour. "Cold Roll Milling" retains most of the vitamin B-complex found in these parts. So the new Kitchen Craft Vitamin B White Flour gives you 5 times more vitamin B₁ than pre-war patent white flour!

Copper Wire goes to War

Vast quantities of copper wire are needed for the war effort of the United Nations. The wire goes into aeroplanes, ships, tanks, and innumerable other things. Copper is also required for many other purposes than wire. There is not enough copper to go around, and that is why the Government severely restricts the use of wire in the telephone business.

Manufacturers that might have made the switchboards and automatic equipment needed to meet the telephone demands in our territory are not permitted to do so because the materials, personnel and machines are needed to fill war orders. So we must get along largely with what we have.

These are reasons why many people who want telephone service are now unable to get it.

Eastern A.R.P. Officials Inspect Facilities Here

Instructed by Dr. R. J. Manion, Dominion A.R.P. director, to make a general survey of medical and fire services throughout the Dominion, William J. Scott, K.C., Ontario fire marshal, and Dr. George Howlett of the Department of Pensions and Health, were visitors to Victoria today.

They were met at the Empress Hotel by Alderman W. L. Morgan, Insp. Arthur H. Bishop, head of the Greater Victoria A.R.P., Alex Munroe, fire chief, and Insp. S. F. M. Moodie, provincial A.R.P. chief.

They immediately set out on an exhaustive survey of the district's fire and casualty A.R.P. facilities and organizations, Mr. Scott being accompanied by Fire Chief Alex Munroe, taking the former, and Dr. Howlett, with medical and first aid officials, the latter.

SEES CONTROL ROOM

Mr. Scott looked over the organization of the A.R.P. control room in the basement of the City Hall, afterwards inspecting the district's auxiliary firemen and the fire fighting equipment.

At 10.45 the party gathered in the office of Mayor Andrew McGavin and conferred with district fire wardens.

Mr. Scott's tour concluded with an inspection of the Industrial Reserve, where the danger of a conflagration in the event of enemy action was pointed out and supply of extra fire-fighting equipment urged upon the visitor.

Dr. Howlett and his party first visited the Victoria West A.R.P. post, proceeding from there to the Quadra Street School, where a demonstration of school evacuation was given, two of the children being treated as "casualties."

LT-Gen. E. C. Ashton then joined the party and an inspection of A.R.P. posts throughout the Foul Bay area, District 11, was held.

The decontamination hut at the Royal Jubilee Hospital was next seen, a visit to St. Joseph's Hospital following.

Dr. Howlett's visit concluded with a luncheon tendered by Dr. E. W. Boak, president of the Victoria Medical Society, to which medical health officers of the district were invited.

This afternoon they left for upland points, whence they will cross to Vancouver and commence their inspection trip eastwards.

START OUT HERE

Before setting out on their tour of the district this morning Dr. Scott said in an interview that he and Dr. Howlett were starting their work in Victoria.

"When I arrived here," he said, "I thought I was experiencing pre-war conditions again, with the brilliant lighting of the streets everywhere."

The proposed dim-out, he thought, was a step in the right direction.

"In Ontario, and also in Quebec, we have no store windows lighted after dark, no advertising display signs are allowed, no theatres are permitted to glow with lights and every other street lamp is out."

"But," he added, with a quizzical smile, "with us it is a question of conservation of power for the war industries."

A former newspaperman with the Toronto Star, Mr. Scott humorously described himself as an eight-and-a-half cent man.

Clarifying this remark, he substituted that he was a dollar-a-year man on a monthly basis.

Seek Decorations For Victory Loan

An appeal to citizens to decorate their homes and places of business during the Victory Loan drive, starting Oct. 19, was issued by Mayor Andrew McGavin today.

The plea was made in response to a request from the National War Finance Committee. Use of flags and bunting for the three weeks during which the campaign will continue would assist materially in drawing the attention of everyone to the drive, officials of the committee said.

Similar requests were made by officials to the reeves of adjoining municipalities.

Qualified Permits Issued for Building

Building permits for work over $500 are being issued by the city building inspector's department here with a special notation.

The note states the permits are issued subject to government regulations governing wartime building, and places the responsibility for securing licenses upon the owner when such licenses are required.

Those qualifications were placed on a permit for $1,000 conversion planned for premises at 960 Joan Crescent.

Victory Loan Drive

Bomber Squadrons Will Aid Victoria Quota of $8,530,000

Victoria will be paper blitzed Saturday afternoon when bombers escorted by fighter planes will shower 250,000 leaflets on downtown city streets in a thrilling air display as Victoria opens its Third Victory Loan drive to raise its quota of $8,530,000—an amount nearly twice that of the last drive.

Wing Cmdr. W. R. Maxwell, Western Air Command, describes the exhibit as one which will be spectacular, informative and instructional.

Special markings on 150 leaflets will entitle holders to $1 worth of War Savings Stamps redeemable until Wednesday, Oct. 21 at the National War Finance Headquarters at 531 Bastion Street.

QUOTAS FOR ISLAND DIVISIONS

Vancouver Island's share in the Victory Loan Drive, the campaign for which opens Monday is $12,750,000. Denis Hagar, divisional organizer, in announcing this figure confidently expects the loan to be oversubscribed before the end of the three weeks' drive.

Canvass will be started immediately. In addition to Victoria's quota of $8,530,000, Saanich will contribute $335,000 if expectations are realized, and Oak Bay residents $1,065,000. Other quotas set are: Esquimalt $430,000, Cowichan-Duncan $750,000, Comox-Courtenay $300,000, Nanaimo $500,000, and Alberni $340,000.

Brinkman Tried For Wallet Theft

Trial of William J. Brinkman, charged with stealing a wallet containing $90 and identification papers of the owner he allegedly found on the deck of a ship under construction in Yarrow's Ltd. No. 2 yard, on July 18, continued in Assize Court here today.

The case opened Wednesday afternoon and crown evidence was being given at the luncheon adjournment.

Arthur C. Willoughby, 3437 Seymour Avenue, to whom the wallet allegedly belonged, testified he had had the wallet in his pocket which he tore while working on the ship that afternoon.

When he reached home for dinner, after stopping for two glasses of beer on the way, he missed it. Search by him in the beer parlor and the ship had failed to yield the wallet. He testified the next Monday, following report of his loss, notices had been posted at the shipyard, one announcing the loss and another asking a person who had been seen picking up a wallet to turn it in to the guardhouse.

Under cross-examination by Stuart Henderson, defence counsel, he said he had been drinking beer with the accused late in the evening of the day on which he lost the wallet.

After notices had been posted he had joined others in the guardhouse where a sergeant of the Esquimalt Police, a guard and the accused were assembled. An information had been laid against the accused July 22, he said.

W. J. Bennett, who worked near the accused, on the ship, said he had seen him pick up a wallet from the deck and put it in his pocket. Witness said he reported the incident to the police at the gate, but had not spoken to the accused on the matter because he did not know whether or not it was the accused's own wallet.

The case is continuing, with J. B. Clearhue, K.C., appearing for the crown.

Dangerous Driving Appeal Dismissed

A woman convicted by Magistrate H. Hall in City Police Court on a charge of driving to the common danger April 25 last, failed in her appeal from conviction before Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court today.

P. J. Sinnott, for the appellant, based his argument on inadequate identity, and contended the woman was, according to the evidence, too intoxicated to be driving the car, which allegedly mounted the boulevard on Pandora Avenue, and rode along it 200 feet before coming back to the street.

C. L. Harrison, for the crown respondent, held the evidence was definite, and asked that the fine be increased.

Before delivering judgment, Judge Shandley stated the woman was a beer drinker, "gallivanting around town without her husband's consent." He dismissed the appeal, declined to increase the fine, which he said, the husband had to pay, but increased suspension of her license from six months to one year.

2 Defence Aides Named for Stalin

MOSCOW (AP)—The Council of People's Commissars has announced the appointment of two deputy commissars of defence to assist Premier Stalin.

They are Gen. A. Vassilievsky, and A. Shcherbakov, chief of the main political administration of the Red army.

(The appointments evidently were a further step in the reorganization of the Red army following the abolishing of the Soviet armed forces and their dual military authority with commanders.)

(When this change was announced last week it was said some political commissars would be made officers as they had gained much political experience.)

(Apparently this recognition of the part played by some of these commissars is to extend to top ranks. Alexander Shcherbakov has been chief of the Soviet Information Bureau.)

WASHINGTON (AP)—German occupation costs France $7,500,000 daily, the Fighting French delegation in Washington reported today. The cost of every hour of occupation is enough to support 500 French families of three people each for an entire year, the delegation said.

Marie Tempest Dies in London

LONDON (CP)—Dame Marie Tempest, 78, celebrated actress, died today in her London home. She had been in poor health for some time and collapsed on Tuesday.

"The sorrows and hardships of war fell heavily on Dame Marie Tempest, but the actress—known to admirers as 'The Queen of her profession'—never faltered in the face of adversity."

BOMBED OUT

At 77, recuperating from a serious illness and obliged to sell art treasures from her bombed home, she told friends that after all she had "really been lucky."

"Hitler has taken nearly everything from me but my life," she declared, "but you can't live on regret. You've got to live for the present and future—not the past."

Born in London July 15, 1864, Marie Tempest's real name was Marie Susan Etherington. She was educated in a Belgian convent, and later in the Bohemian atmosphere of Paris.

The bare outline of her stage career fills five volumes of "Who's Who in the Theatre," the full story would require a bulky volume. She first appeared on the stage in May, 1885.

TOUR THE WORLD

She started as a performer in musical comedy and light opera, then, at the peak of her fame, switched to straight plays, acting in dozens of hits over all the world.

She made her first New York appearance in August, 1890, in "Red Hu ar." That year and the next she toured Canada and the United States with the J. C. Duff Comic Opera Company. Subsequently, she paid numerous visits to United States cities, where she was a prime favorite.

Marie Tempest was married three times. Her third husband, W. Graham Browne, who died in 1937, was an actor-producer, identified with Tempest shows for more than 25 years.

Took Live Shell From Man's Thigh

BRIGHTON, Eng. (CP)—Henry Coates of London is alive today thanks to the courage of a surgeon who removed a live German Messerschmitt cannon shell from his thigh—a dangerous operation almost without parallel in medical history.

Coates was wounded recently when a German plane bombed and machine-gunned the building in which he was working.

Surgeons, knowing that shells of that type frequently explode at the slightest touch, were faced with a rare dilemma. Finally they called in a bomb disposal squad, which suggested that with extreme care the shell might be removed.

Disregarding the danger to himself, Dr. Donald Hall, chairman of the Royal Sussex County Hospital, undertook to perform the delicate operation. Assistants and nurses quickly volunteered to help and the operation was carried through without mishap.

NEW YORK (CP)—BBC said today that many workers are leaving Lyons to seek refuge in the countryside because of efforts to compel them to go to Germany to work. The BBC said an appeal for 3,000 workers was answered by only 10 men.

Would Improve Health of Many

By HUGH FULLERTON
NEW YORK (AP)—Wanted to be an athlete? ... Probably not, but dapper Dan Ferris, the A.A.U. secretary-treasurer, has an idea that may get Americans out there yet trying to show that they're healthy specimens.

The plan is simply to arrange a series of tests in various sports, such as track and field, basketball, etc., in each community, with standards set low enough that almost anybody can get by after a little practice. ... They'll be arranged according to age groups, so the flat-footed, wind-broken guys of 40 will have as much chance as 20-year-olds. ...

The main idea, Dan explains, is to catch them when they're not looking and make them healthier. ... The A.A.U. once tried a similar stunt on a much smaller scale and the poor guys who volunteered to do the timing and measuring were overwhelmed.

Louisiana golfers have been playing for three titles at once in New Orleans. ... First day's rounds counted for the state promoter tournament and the first halves of the city pro championship and the state open. Entries in the latter two events played a second time with the scores counting one or two ways.

Freed Communists 'Ready to Serve'
VANCOUVER (CP)—Fergus McKean, former secretary of the British Columbia section of the Communist Party of Canada and spokesman for five men who returned to Vancouver today from an eastern Canadian internment camp, said the five were ready to serve Canada "in the army or the reserves or in war industry, wherever we are able to serve or where they will take us."

Others in the party were Bob Kerr, Victoria, and Tom Ewen, Bill Rigby and Harry Assen, all of Vancouver.

Nearly 200 relatives and friends turned out to welcome the five.

FINE FUN FILM SHOWING AT YORK

Mounting hilarity is the order of the day at the York Theatre, where "Ball of Fire," Samuel Goldwyn's new comedy-romance, has made its local debut. Packed with novel and delightful situations, along with brilliant dialogue and the work of an ideal cast headed by Gary Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck, the new offering ranks among the best fun films ever produced. Besides being a real treat, it affords its stars two of the finest characterizations they've had to date.

Cooper portrays a stuffy, ultra-serious professor of English who, with seven picturesque colleagues, is writing a new encyclopedia. Miss Stanwyck is an entertainer at a night club, where Cooper goes in search of source material for the article on slang he is preparing.

Intrigued by her conversation, Cooper invites the girl to the old house where the professors have their headquarters. She comes—not to please him, but to evade the police, who want to question her about the activities of her gangster boy friend.

DOROTHY LAMOUR IN FAMILIAR ROLE

Returning to the screen once again in a jungle role, Dorothy Lamour, looking as bewitching as ever, arrives today at the Atlas Theatre, as the star of the new Paramount adventure romance in Technicolor, "Beyond the Blue Horizon."

The new film features a stand-out cast including Richard Denning, Jack Haley, Patricia Morrison, Walter Abel, Helen Gilbert and Elizabeth Patterson. In many ways "Beyond the Blue Horizon" is superior to the five previous jungle films starred in by Dorothy Lamour. Sandwiched in between the many thrills are some hilarious scenes. Much of the fun was engendered by an amazingly intelligent chimpanzee named Go-Go.

AUTRY GOOD IN 'SOUTH OF BORDER'

Inspired originally by the phenomenally successful song from which it derives its title, Republic's "South of the Border," which opened today at the Rio Theatre for a three-day run, now promises to become as popular as the song itself.

The story moves entertainingly to a fast and satisfying climax, with action and thrills in every foot of film. We may safely say that "South of the Border" is one of the best Autrys to date.

FRENCH STAR IN 'JOAN OF PARIS'

When a heroic young French girl is singled out by destiny to emulate her patron saint, Joan of Arc, by becoming a martyr in the turbulent tragedy of captive France, romance and adventure begin to mount in the widely-heralded "Joan of Paris."

Michele Morgan, brilliant French screen star, and Paul Henreid, who scored outstandingly in "Night Train," make their debut as a romantic team in this vivid RKO Radio offering, now at the Cadet Theatre.

GET & KRUPA featured in "Ball of Fire" which stars Gary Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck and is now at the York Theatre.

OAK BAY—PLAZA

Those pessimistic personalities who thought Abbott and Costello could not keep up the comedy pace they set in "Buck Privates," "In the Navy," "Keep 'Em Flying," and their other successive hits, have another think coming.

The nation's two foremost screwball comics have done it again, on a bigger, and even balmier scale.

If you are one of those doubting Thomases, go to the Oak Bay or Plaza Theatre, where Abbott and Costello's newest Universal hit, "Pardon My Sarong," is making people lean back and laugh until their sides ache.

CAPITOL THEATRE

With one roaring success, "The Maltese Falcon," behind him; another, starring Bette Davis in "In This Our Life," and a third, Warner Bros., "Across the Pacific," currently at the Capitol Theatre, John Huston is the directorial "red hot" of the Hollywood studios.

To see him ambulating about the set, however, is to get the impression that this lank, gangling, unassuming son of Walter Huston is just gawking at what is going on... not directing it.

The funny thing is that that's the way it might have been too... if it hadn't been for a poker game in Texas with the town of Nevada, Mo., as the stakes, and a correspondence course in fire prevention.

Dorothy Dix:

Many Girls Think Marriage Leads to a Life of Idleness

Dear Dorothy Dix: I read an article in a paper about a girl who says she is getting married so she can take it easy. I laughed. I was up at 7.30. Made a fire in the water heater. Cooked breakfast. Washed the dishes. Washed five lines of clothes. Ironed two dresses for myself and a blouse for my daughter. Went to the store and bought the food for the day. Cooked lunch. Did the dishes. Swept five rooms. Made two beds. Cleaned two bird cages. Gave the baby a bath and washed her hair. Washed my own hair. Took clothes in. Ironed five pairs of curtains. Washed four windows. Hung the curtains. Cooked supper. Put baby to bed. And now at 8.30 I still have the supper dishes to do, my husband's dinner to cook and his lunch to put up.

And that is about the life of the average woman who is married to a poor man. It is worth while if you love your husband and he loves you, but any girl who thinks marriage is a soft snap and that she won't have to punch the time clock after she gets a husband, has another guess coming.

INTERESTED READER.

Answer: It is a queer thing that any girl who has intelligence enough to hold down a job thinks she can sit down and do nothing as soon as she gets married. But many girls do. There is hardly a day I don't get a letter from one of these little nitwits who tells me she is going to get married because she is tired of working.

One recently wrote me that she is going to marry a boy, who makes $15 a week, and take things easy the balance of her life. Can you tie that? A woman

ing house where there is a girl I am crazy about. The trouble with her is that she works for a newspaper and she is continually trying to better herself by turning in scoops. As everybody in the house sits down to meals she has a wonderful opportunity to listen to discussions we have regarding our work.

As we talk, she continually asks in her sweet way: "Are you sure that's true?" And, not suspecting anything, we readily assure her that it is. The next day it is smeared all over the front page of the paper she works for.

Now, Miss Dix, my problem is this: Shall I marry her to shut her up, or should I move? Remember she is the only girl in the world as far as I am concerned. Please don't forsake me in my darkest hour.

YEHUDI.

Answer: Haven't you read over and over again the warnings that are published in the newspapers and plastered on every wall, urging even civilians not to discuss war work or war manoeuvres in public?

You have been told time and again that when you artlessly tell a stranger or a pretty girl that a ship is sailing at a certain time that you may be furnishing the information that might destroy it and its crew. Or that you may be giving away vital production statistics to the enemy when you tell how many planes the plant you work in is making or that a strike is brewing.

Here are you, a soldier, letting a girl reporter wheedle out of you information that you should cut your tongue off rather than tell!

It is your business to keep your mouth shut and not let the girl worm a single fact out of you. Probably she is a spy. Anyway, she has no loyalty, or patriotism, or she would not write facts she knows were injurious to her country. But that doesn't excuse giving away government secrets to her.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a young fellow in the armed forces, living out of barracks in a boarding house where there is a girl I am crazy about. The trouble with her is that she works for a newspaper and she is continually trying to better herself by turning in scoops. As everybody in the house sits down to meals she has a wonderful opportunity to listen to discussions we have regarding our work.

I certainly advise you to change your boarding house if it is filled with other babblers as indiscreet as you are. Don't think that marrying the girl will solve your problem. It would only make you an easier source of information.

English Inventor Made Machine With 'Elephant Feet'

Early in the present century a strange new machine appeared in England. It was called the "pedrail," and its inventor had high hopes for it. He said it could move over rough ground.

The machine had four wheels, like many other machines, but the hind wheels were of a kind which never had been seen before. They were covered with rounded "feet," very much like the feet of an elephant.

There was a steam boiler, also a smokestack. The front wheels were of a common type, being made of iron with smooth rims. It was the elephant's feet on the high hind wheels which made people open their mouths in wonder.

A fire was started, and steam was got up. Then off the monster traveled. It made a speed of only four miles an hour, but it was able to leave the road and move across bumpy ground.

Pedrails, however, have not made much of a stir in the world. They have given way to tractors, which also travel over rough ground.

The so-called "caterpillar," or "crawler," tractor has four wheels, but only two treads. A tread on each side stretches around two wheels.

Thanks to the treads, the caterpillar has a strong pull. It can climb almost any hill.

The year 1910 is the first in which caterpillar tractors were made on a large scale. Since then, hundreds of thousands of them have been produced.

Most of the early tractors were of large size. Some could pull six plows, others 10 or 12.

The big tractors were too costly for most farmers, so some factories began to turn out small-size models. Tractors, have been made with as small a weight as a quarter of a ton, and with as great a weight as 15 tons.

Many tractors of the present day do not have the caterpillar treads. Instead they have wheels with very wide tires.

Meat rationing will undoubtedly

Mrs. I. T. Robertson Laid at Rest

CHEMAMINUS — Funeral services for Mrs. Isabella Tate Robertson were held at St. Michael and All Angels' Church on Tuesday. Mrs. Robertson died in Chemaminus Hospital on Saturday.
She was 85 years old.

Born in Kirthwaite, Durham County, England, in 1857, she was married in 1875 and the following year went to the United States with her husband, George Tate, and settled in Kansas City. They later moved to Nevada, where her husband died. In 1898 she went to Wellington, Vt., and eight years later to the Yukon, where she lived until 1918, and was married to Alex Robertson. In that year she returned to British Columbia, living first in Vancouver and then in Chemaminus with her daughter, Mrs. David Murray.

Mrs. Robertson was a charter member of the Pythian Sisters Lodge of Ladysmith, and had been a member of No. 19, W.B.A.
Lodge, Chemaminus, for the past 18 years.

Besides her daughter here, Mrs.
Robertson is survived by a son,
Joseph, of Shelton, Wash.; 10 grandchildren, Mrs. Richard Mc-Bride, Mrs. G. McInnes, W. Murray and David Murray, all of Chemaminus; Mrs. H. Smith of Port Renfrew; Mrs. J. Lawless of Duncan, Edward Tate and Evert Tate of Seattle; Mrs. Edith Leveit of Camp Five, Salton, Wash., and Joseph Henry Tate of Matlock, Wash.; also 11 great-grandchildren, one of whom,
James Tate, is listed as a prisoner of war in the Philippines.

Services were conducted by Rev. E. M. Cook.

Flett Found Guilty

Arnold C. Flett was found guilty Wednesday afternoon of attempted armed robbery of Thomas W. L. Mutch, manager of the Oak Bay branch, Canadian Bank of Commerce, on April 29 last by an Assize Court jury which deliberated its verdict approximately two hours and five minutes.

"We the jury," said James Evans, foreman, "find the accused guilty, with a strong recommendation to mercy."

Mr. Justice Sidney Smith, presiding, remanded the accused for sentence at the end of the assizes.
Evidence in the case was completed Tuesday evening and H.
W. Davey, defence counsel, and J. B. Clearihue, K.C., crown prosecutor, addressed the jury
during the morning, prior to Mr.
Justice Smith's charge.

The defence rested entirely on the contention the accused had been temporarily of unsound mind when he entered the Oak Bay branch, pointed his revolver at the manager and said "Stick
'em up."

Missionaries Safe

Word has been received by H.
L. Hopkins, 3321 Tennyson Ave., that his brother and sister-in-law,
Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Hopkins, missionaries, are safe in Nanchang, Kiangsi, China. Both have been seriously ill but are slowly recovering.

"We are kept in place and our needs supplied day by day," Mr.
Hopkins wrote.

Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins have many friends in Victoria, having visited here several times when on furlough. They were here last three years ago and spoke a number of times on their mission work in China.

Urge X-Ray Tests For Thousands

LONDON (CP)—Mass X-ray tests in factories and the services, reforms in milk supplies and improved treatment have been recommended to the British government as steps urgently necessary to combat an increase in tuberculosis, an increase which presents special problems in war time.

An outspoken report of a committee presided over by Lord Dawson of Penn, eminent British medical authority, emphasizes that in order to discover the disease before symptoms develop the initiative for X-ray examinations should now pass from the patient to the doctor. This could be effected only through mass radiography.

The report suggests this method should be applied to persons about to enter new employment to prevent entry of those with active pulmonary tuberculosis. As this measure, however, would not safeguard industrial workers a further examination among selected groups of employees would be of "great value," it adds.

Since the war started there has been a definite increase in deaths from tuberculosis coupled with a "disquieting" jump in deaths from tubercular meningitis among children. A total of 41,545 deaths from respiratory tuberculosis in 1916 was gradually reduced until it stood at 22,199 in 1939. In 1941, however, there were 23,663 deaths.

mittee sales office, now open at Workshop in this city. The display consists of a complete assortment of poppies, single, in groups and in tastefully constructed wreaths suitable for clubs, associations or business forms.

wars. Citizens are asked to help the Remembrance Day committee to assist the men who fought for them in 1914-18.
